LOS ANGELES.

The Sunshine Circle has a party or entertainment every year to raise funds for their treasury. This year it was in the form of a Hard Times party. The Los Angeles Silent Club donated the use of their hall for this event, Saturday night, May 27th. The Sunnyside Club cancelled their meeting for that night, so that there would be no counter attraction. How delightful and encouraging to the ladies was all this friendly co-operation! An admission fee of ten cents was charged. Mrs. Norman Lewis made a hit by a humorous declamation, dressed in a quaint costume. Mrs. Louis Waddell, one of the organizers of the Circle, told something of its history. There have been hard times parties here before, but never did so many turn out in real "hard times" costumes. The prizes for the most poverty stricken (looking) individuals went to Mrs. Tom Singleton and Mr. Leslie Ross, and for children to the Brook's little boy and Mr. and Mrs. T. Singleton's little girl. The judges were Mr. Hodgman and two hearing ladies. At 9:30 P.M., the march began down to the banquet hall, where the committee of ladies had refreshments for sale—and waffles pie and coffee. Everything was sold and the ladies were well satisfied with the result. The committee consisted of Chairman, Mrs. Waldo H. Rothert and Mesdames Norman V. Lewis, Henry Dahl, Wm. Howe Phelps, Ernest Bingham, W. F. Schneider, Henry Briscoe and John W. Barrett.

Miss Alice E. Chenoweth, one of the transplanted "Hawkeyes," gave her annual big luncheon on May 12th, at her beautiful home on Canyon Drive, Hollywood. Eighteen ladies were her guests, and they certainly were a happy, merry crowd. After luncheon three tables played "500," and the other ladies chatted with the hostess. The prize went to Mrs. Clarence H. Doane. Miss Chenoweth's sister and husband, who make their home with her, are at present visiting at Des Moines, Ia.

Miss Annabelle Kent entertained the Ladies Card Club on May 17th, at the Grant, a home hotel in Pasadena, where she has been staying. Dinner at one o'clock was served at a big round table, and an effective centerpiece was the basket of blue iris and marigolds. The landlady had taken an especial interest in preparing for Miss Kent's party. The afternoon was spent playing "500," but the party was quieter than usual, being saddened by the serious illness of one of the members, Mrs. Margaret Kent. There is no relationship between Mrs. and Miss Kent. The prizes went to Mrs. David Brown and Miss Nell. Miss Kent left the following day for the East. She planned to spend a week in Chicago, the same in Detroit and New York City, before going to her summer home in the Catskills. She expects to return in the Fall.

Mesdames Phelps and Rothert planned to get all the college girls (twelve in number) together for an all-day outing. May 18th was the date chosen and Mount Lowe as the destination. Some more ladies were invited. All were asked to be at the station of the Pacific Electric Railway at 9 o'clock, but only six of the collegians appeared there. The ladies in the party were Mrs. Augusta Kruse Barrett, ex-'95, Mrs. Florence Phelps Rothert, ex-'00, Mrs. Emma Prager Moran, ex-'00, Mrs. Mary Allison Bingham, ex-'00, Mrs. Laura Bigley Phelps, ex-'07, Mrs. Helen Hunt Handley, ex-'23, Mrs. W. F. Schneider, Mrs. Henri Briscoe and Mrs. J. T. Conway. I am not familiar with the mountain lingo of grades and elevations and inclines, so how shall I describe the ascent? A happy thought—I will clip from the descriptive folder, which is a marvel of condensed information.

Mount Lowe, while by no means the highest mountain in California, is perhaps the most famous, due to its unique railway, its ease of access, its varied scenes of beauty and rugged grandeur, and the many thousands of visitors who make the ascent annually.

The journey to Mount Lowe commences in Los Angeles at the Main Street Station of the Pacific Electric Railway, and lies through Pasadena, with its beautiful residences and great tourist hotels, to Altadena, another millionaire colony, overlooking the valley, and plunges into the wild beauty of Rubio Canyon, pausing at the foot of the great Incline, where the second stage of the journey begins. The Incline is three thousand feet long, and in that distance the traveler rises thirteen hundred feet, on grades ranging from forty eight to sixty-two per cent. The cars are operated by a steel cable of one hundred tons capacity, but never loaded beyond five tons, and are also equipped with safety cables and clutches, insuring absolute security.

At Echo Mountain, the top of the Incline, is located the interesting Incline machinery, and also the Lowe Observatory, which is open free to the public on Saturday, Sunday and holiday evenings. On these evenings the three million candle-power Searchlight is also on exhibition.

Changing cars at Echo Mountain, the third and most picturesque stage of the journey is begun, a scenic trolley ride of five miles, passing around one hundred and twenty-seven curves and over eighteen bridges, and climbing to an elevation of five thousand feet above sea level on a maximum grade of only nine per cent.

The railway terminates at Ye Alpine Tavern, and from here the journey to the Summit, eleven hundred feet above, is made by trail, going up on one side of the mountain and down another. A pony train, in charge of a competent guide, makes regular trips from Alpine to the Summit, or the journey may be made on foot in about two and one half hours.

For less strenuous amusement, the traveler may visit Proposal Arbor and Inspiration Point, or follow one of the many trails as far as time permits. At Proposal Arbor the leafy Sunset Trail begins—nearly level, and undoubtedly the prettiest easy walk in the mountains. Near Inspiration Point may be seen Easter Rock, where an impressive sunrise service is held each year on Easter morning. All trails radiate from Ye Alpine Tavern, which opens its hospitable doors to the daily visitor as well as the permanent guest.

There was a guide with the party and finding that there was a party of deaf ladies aboard, he was very obliging in writing out bits of information about the places passed. On entering the Alpine Tavern they received a warm welcome, as there was a fire of blazing logs in the big fireplace. Above this is the inscription, "Ye ornament of a house is ye guest who doth frequent it." There is a hostess in charge to welcome tourists.

Our party went up the trail to Inspiration Point. As the morning was cloudy, we missed the view, which is said to be wonderful in clear weather. Some of the ladies had made this trip before, but none had gone beyond this point. The rarefied atmosphere had made them feel ambitious, so they went up a real mountain trail to Easter Rock, where the first Easter service on Mount Lowe was held in 1916. By this time the clouds looked so threatening, it was thought best to go back to the Tavern. Even before reaching it some big drops began to fall. (Rain in May is said to be unusual here.) They had brought a picnic lunch with them, and soon had this spread out on one of the tables in the tavern. How hungry they all were after their feats in mountain climbing!

The rain stopped after dinner so they could do a little more exploring, but after a while the cheery fire drew them all back. On the way down the valleys were filled with fog rolling up like great pillars of smoke. One of the ladies said it was like going down into a forest fire, and another said it was like going down into an Inferno. They all agreed it was a wonderful day and want to go again and try to reach the summit next time!

The ladies' Card Club was pleasantly entertained at luncheon and "500," by Mrs. U. M. Cool, on June 7th. Prizes went to Miss Cooper and Mrs. M. Sonneborn. The club meetings will be discontinued during the summer months. That week Mrs. Cool had the pleasure of meeting her brother whom she had not seen for eighteen years. He was here to attend the International meeting of the Rotary Clubs.

From these pleasant gatherings, I turn to chronicle the death of Mrs. Margaret Kennedy Kent, at 11 P.M., June 8th. Some months ago her friends were shocked to learn she was suffering from a cancer under her left arm, and was taking the radium treatment. She seemed to be benefited and believed she would be cured. She was a fine looking woman, robust and healthy, one of the last one would suppose to be attacked by this dread disease. She kept going about and was at a luncheon as late as May 12th. Since then her decline was rapid. She was a talented graduate of the Michigan School, and for several years a teacher at the Iowa School. She was twice married, her first husband being Charles A. Gumaer. She was the widow of Albert G. Kent, who died here seven years ago. She leaves three children, Albert G., Mrs. Helen Gaynor, of Phoenix, Arizona, and Stephen. The funeral was held at the Los Angeles Crematory, the afternoon of June 10th. It was largely attended, and quite a number of her deaf friends were present. But on account of the short notice given, many of them did not hear of it until that night, at the club meeting. The services were conducted by a lady reader of the New Thought Church, of which Mrs. Kent had long been a member.

OREGON—WASHINGTON.

Mrs. Claire Reeves and Alice have returned from a two-weeks' visit with their mother and grand-mother in Seattle.

Otho Minnick has been removed to the home of his mother at Tacoma. Extensive skin grafting and long nursing will be necessary. He was badly burned about the face and arms.

Co. C lost a game by 9 to 3 to the Washington State School for Deaf. Co. K won by 23 to 13, but it was a windy day and Bradbury, who is a curve pitcher and only 17, could do nothing. But his record in 10 games has been 104 strike outs.

The Portland deaf-mutes lost a 21 to 2 game to the School on Memorial Day.

C. R. Lawrence has been playing left field and second base for the barn nine, but is sadly out of practice in batting and fielding grounds. The nine defeated the Vancouver Juniors, 18 to 2, on Memorial Day, but the losing pitcher had a sore hand and could do nothing. Later, pitching for Walnut Grove, he stopped the car barn nine by 7 to 3.

Ed. C. Langlois has been helping canning hay. It is slo work. The cannery may open this week and it will give employment to the local idle.

Mrs. Ed. Spieker will be glad to be back at work, after a lay-off since November, and help eke out the family income.

P. H. Divine has had several fainting spells lately. At Washington he fell down in a fit on an incline by the river, sprawling half over. The barking of the house dog aroused the host who pulled P. H. D. back in time. Still P. H. D. has a few lives left.

Peter Coic, of Aberdeen, has been visiting Vancouver and Portland. He called on his sister at the school.

Preston Masters, of Portland, and Mrs. Clara Grossman, of the Dalles, were married Sunday, May 21st. She was a pupil at the Iowa School, but moved west after three years and has lived east of the Cascades for three decades.

Sanford Spratten has been trying to trade his Portland property for a suburban place of 5 to 20 acres, either even or to boot.

The Sprattens have a pair of canaries that have made money for them. The eggs hatch in fourteen days. Good singers are in demand. The Reeves purp means well, but not to let alone. It watched Claire Reeves grab chix that had escaped out of their pen. A few days later, while it was dinner time, the purp saw some chix loose again and immediately got busy. Claire found eight dead.

The Hunters and Carl James went fishing near Washongall one Sunday. Willie got 28, Ethel and Carl the biggest zero. Carl's luck was against him—he had no fishing license.

Use your smellers to test gas leaks first. Testing first with a match has been known to cause little less or more damage than T. N. T. and we all have no more than one life apiece.

Blanda Alseth, 17, was drowned about 2:30 P.M., June 3d, in Vancouver Lake. The girls from the W. S. S. D. were picnicking at the ranch of T. P. and M. G. Clarke. The rising of the Columbia had flooded the lake, and the girls had been cautioned to stay close to the shore. Blanda boasted her ability at swimming, ventured far out after a tied boat, got into a hole and was not misad for a little time. A life saver happened near by, dived and with the aid of Melvin Horbert brought the body out. She was subject to faints and stomach trouble.

Gallaudetians from Portland and Salem called on Louis A. and Zelle Stout Divine Memorial Day.

The Reeves called on the Langlois and Divine families and visited the W. S. S. D. Sunday.

Want some gossip? Here's two below: Persistent gossip blames Theo. C. Mueller with squandering his money on girls. Having lived intimately with him for fifty one years, the writer can attest under oath that it is not true, and that he is stingy with everybody but himself.

The estate money has been tied up, but he admits he has been badly swindled on loans. Gossip flies everywhere everyday at incredible speed and persists, but truth lags at the post and gets there after the race is over.

Theo. C. Mueller would appreciate information as to Rose Viola Tipton. He wants to know why his letters have never been answered.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. King, of Little Rock, Ark., will visit in Orient, Wash., during the summer. They expect the ex-Arkansawans in Washington and Oregon to visit them.

A homing pigeon is claimed to have recently broken a world's record by covering the 614½ miles between Chicago and Beltsville, Maryland, near Washington, D. C., in 27 hours elapsed time, which means less than 16 hours actual flying. The bird bore a message from Mayor Thompson to President Harding.

DENVER.

Guy A. Rasey slipped away to Holly, Col., and was married to Miss Rosa B. Davidson on May 24th. Their honeymoon trip included Colorado Springs and Denver. Grey dropped in on the June 3d Frat meeting with a box of excellent cigars for the boys. Mr. and Mrs. Rasey will make their home on a farm near Holly. The best wishes of their Denver friends go with them.

Among the out-of-town Frats who attended the June 3d meeting were Rodgers, Boulder; Brooks, Ft. Collins; Teter, Thermopolis, Wyo.

M. A. Johnson after a lengthy sojourn on the Pacific coast, has returned to Denver for the time being.

Messrs. Lessley, Northern, Janovick and Jim Alford, went to the Poudre River on a four-day fishing trip. The total catch amounted to fifteen trout. T. Y. claims he was unjustly treated, as he had to do K. P. all the time. Janovick got ten trout and it is possible that T. Y.'s kick was influenced by his inability to get more than one bite.

T. R. Tansey has the homestead bee buzzing in his bonnet now, and if all signs are right he will be the possessor of some of Uncle Sam's domain before long. There he will learn to coax the milk from a refractory cow, also that the heaving deck of a broncho is vastly different from the motion of a Tin Lizzie, and that a hayseed's life is work all the time. But he will have that grand and glorious feeling "I am my own Boss."

The whooping cough has jumped on H. E. Grace's children and they are whooping things up now. August Northern, son of T. Y. Northern, is down with the mumps. Who next?

Mr. Barrett has secured a position as a monotype operator with the Hoeckel Printing Company. Tom Matthews is still enjoying life on a farm near Morrison, Col., and gets up long before sunrise and goes to bed long after sunset.

Powell Wilson of the New Mexico School bobbed up in Denver, where he proposes to stay all summer. Powell has a good position at the New Mexico School for the Deaf, and the tales he tells of hunting, fishing, and grizzly bears being shot in the streets of Santa Fe, have imbued our mighty nimrod, R. H. Frewing, with an ardent desire to go down there and show the natives what real shooting looks like or don't look like.

Mrs. A. S. Kent recently journeyed to Otis, Col., to visit her daughter. Mr. Kent tended house, acted as scullery maid meanwhile, and things kept getting worse. Friday night he got desperate and he and his son decided to motor to Otis in their benzine buggy and kidnap Mrs. Kent. Just before the nefarious scheme had started in its first stages, Mrs. Kent turned up, and all is well in the Kent household again.

Miss Mabel Pearson, a teacher in the Kansas School for the Deaf at Olathe, arrived in Denver, June 9th, to spend to summer. She is stopping at the Kent's home.

The Silent Card Club gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harvat, at their new home, 2738 Julian Street. To be sure the couple were caught unawares. Games were indulged in much to the merriment of all, after which refreshments were served. A framed picture of the "Lone Wolf" and a rolling pin were presented to the happy couple.

The Liberty Club met at the home of Mrs. Harvat, June 14th. Mrs. J. H. Tuskey was admitted to membership and new officers elected. It was decided to have a picnic some time this summer, during the time Dr. Cloud is here on his vacation.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Treuke will be in Denver before long on a visit. Might locate here!

Conrad Urbach and wife, of Ft. Morgan, are contemplating a trip to Denver, to attend Mr. Veditz's lecture, June 24th.

Rex Cochran, of Bloom, Col., is in Denver. Apparently he has a wad of money along, as he is staying at the Shirley-Savoy Hotel at present.

DENVERITE.

Progress of Artificial Lighting

When in need of light, we push a button and, presto, "there is light," thanks to electricity.

Only a little while ago, however, we had to turn a tap and apply a match before we had light, and before gas light our fathers and grandfathers struggled along with kerosene lamps, which seemed to them a big improvement over the candles of their fathers.

Taking it by and large, we are pretty fortunate living in such an advanced age, but it was not always so, as the development of illumination will show—our forefathers deserve a great deal of credit for their improvements in artificial light.

A series of curious and apparently disconnected objects displayed in a case in the new building of the National Museum at Washington, illustrate the fascinating story of light, and Dr. Walter Howe, curator in charge, can tell much more concerning this interesting subject.

Glancing into the case before reading the labels one is apt to wonder what it is all about; there is an egg-shaped object punched full of holes, with a small door in the top, a dried up bird, a tiny fish stuck into a forked stick, a bundle of sticks, some old stone and earthenware dishes, a roll of birch bark, a waxed rope and several old candles and lamps. But as the labels are read a connected story begins to unfold.

CAMP FIRES FIRST SOURCE OF LIGHT

We can tell but little concerning what man did for light before he first made camp fires, because no remains of men have been discovered antedating the use of fire, but he probably relied upon the moon and stars to a great extent, and may have been benefited in his nocturnal work by heat lighting and polar light, or by certain plants and animals which emit phosphorescent light. We know that fireflies were used under the last division and that this is still done in certain countries, for example Siam and Brazil, where the largest and most brilliant species occur.

Prof. S. P. Langley, late secretary Smithsonian, found by his researches that the light emitted by the firefly was the cheapest and most economical form of light known to man. Could we but solve the secret of its production we would have a brilliantly illuminated world at scarcely any expense whatever.

The first object in the National Museum series, described above, is a perforated cocoon shell, which when well stocked with fireflies makes a very good lantern. This is the only form of natural light known to have been employed by man; probably at about the same time he also discovered that his campfire was portable, and that a burning brand might be taken therefrom to light him on his way.

Bodies of fat birds and fish, such as the stormy petrel and candle fish, included in the series were also burned for light, in the Orkney Island and in Alaska respectively.

ROLLED BIRCHBARK USED BY IROQUOIS INDIANS.

Then came the forerunner of the torch, including the rolled birchbark used by the Iroquois Indians, and split fat-pine knots from Virginia. The true Indian torch was first made by the southern Indians, who used bundles of splinters of fat-pine knots, while the Malays manufactured a torch of dammar gum, a resinous substance, wrapping it in palm leaves.

More candle-like lights followed, developed in the middle ages by Europeans who soaked pieces of rope in resin and saturated cords of fibers with grease or wax. The primitive candle of England was a rush soaked in melted fat. In Mongolia and India a mass of grease was burned on the end of a splint or stick.

By these steps it is seen that man was beginning to apply his ingenuity, after having found that lights could be had, and to realize their value. In England, a plan was evolved whereby a cord saturated with wax or fat was coiled about a vertical stick, which also supported an iron holder for the end of the wick-like cord.

Dipped candles with a cotton wick soon put in their appearance in the United States, followed by moulded candles. Some recent examples of modified candles of stearine, paraffin and wax, are shown in the museum collection, a number of them artistically decorated.

LAMPS OF MANY FORMS HANDED DOWN.

Unlike the perishable, early candles and torches, lamps of many forms have survived for our archeologist to study, indicating that their development dates back to the time when our ancestors began to use oil instead of fat or grease and wax. The first examples shown in the museum are of stone.

One form, the Aleut shell heaps, appears to be an unworked beach stone with a slight natural concavity, in which the oil was placed, the wick resting along the edge. Another is Eskimauan, and consists of a hollowed beach stone, which had a moss wick on one edge.

These were superseded by simple lamps made of shells, or terra cotta, some of the latter having their reservoirs covered and special gutters for wicks. Next came the bronze lamp, followed by iron and brass lamps from Italy, with two or more wicks, some of them mounted on rods and standards, and equipped with several instruments for trimming the wicks.

The discovery of petroleum gave rise to numerous inventions of chimneys, burners and wicks, so that during the year 1870 the United States was probably the best illuminated country in the world.

Coal gas illumination was evolved between 1792-1802, but it was not until about 1884 that it was brought to a high state of efficiency by the Welsbach mantle, and further developed by the inverted burner and the use of pressure gas.

ELECTRICITY GLOW IN BEING DEVELOPED.

In the age of electrical illumination the first light was an arc made by Sir Humphrey Davy, between 1801-1808, but electric lights were not employed in this country until much later. The open arc light was supplemented in 1893 by the enclosed arc, and later improved by metallic electrodes.

The brilliant flame arc was an invention of Bremer in 1898-1899, and in the mean time a mercury-vapor lamp was introduced in 1902, followed by several other types, including the Cooper-Hewitt light, still in vogue.

The first practical incandescent lamp was the carbon filament lamp brought out by Edison in 1878-1879, although a platinum filament lamp was experimented with much earlier. Filaments of osmium, tantalum, helion and other metals, were introduced, but none of them equaled the efficiency of tungsten, invented in 1893, and perfected in 1912.

Many other lamps were made during these years, among them the Nernst. One of the latest improvements, effected by introducing nitrogen into the bulb, is known as the Mazda gas lamp, which is made in very large sizes and has become an efficient competitor of the arc light.

Nearly every year has brought out a better and at the same time a cheaper form of light. Nobody knows when experiments in electrical illumination will be terminated or when some unknown form of light may be brought into use. The museum ethnological exhibit goes as far as the simple carbon filament light, but in the division of mechanical technology in the older building there are many interesting examples of early electric lamps and lighting apparatus, together with later improvements showing the many phases of development in the art of illumination.

Luck always lags; labor runs forward. Luck lies abed and wishes; labor swings the hammer at six o'clock in the morning.

When Columbus discovered America there was not a saloon in it? It has taken us 500 years to get back to that condition.

Resolution

WHEREAS, Clarke Oral School in its campaign for a $500,000 fund attempts to beguile the public into a conclusion that the oral method released the deaf in America from what it terms "the stone age" system of signs and finger spelling, thereby creating a false impression generally of the true status of the deaf.

Resolved, That the Los Angeles Silent Club go on record as opposing such an unwarranted and untruthful allusion to the sign language of the deaf as something meanly associated with stone age times; that we do our utmost to combat the prejudice and false impression spread generally by the overzealous oral propagandist; that we preserve and improve the dignity and beauty of the true sign language, which the deaf—orally taught deaf as well as others—universally concede to be their surer medium of happiness.

Detective Accused of Beating Deaf-Mute

ATLANTIC CITY, June 20.—Director of Public Safety W. S. Cuthbert ordered a rigid examination into the alleged attack made by Captain of Detectives James M. Malseed upon Joseph Conway, a deaf-mute, twenty years old, of No. 19 North Annapolis Avenue, this city. Captain Malseed, according to the complaint, tormented the mute by poking an umbrella into his ribs while they were riding in a surface car in this city. After repeated jabs, it is alleged the mute turned and smacked the detective captain with the flat of his hand. Malseed, according to a number of witnesses, then beat the young mute with his blackjack. Captain Malseed denies the charges.—N. Y. Evening Journal, June 20.

Harry Calkins, a deaf-mute, 30 years of age, 204 Lembeck Avenue, Jersey City, N. J., died at the Jersey City Hospital on Sunday, June 11th, after a lingering illness following a stroke of paralysis. Calkins was buried in New York Bay Cemetery, Greenville, N. J., on Wednesday afternoon, the 14th. The funeral services were held at Bumell's funeral parlors, 70 Monticello Avenue, Jersey City, on Tuesday evening, by Rev. Arthur Boll, a Lutheran Missionary for the Deaf, of New York City. Calkins came from Wisconsin, was employed as a machinist by a Jersey City firm. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Calkin (nee Henemier) and two young children.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1533 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

It gives us great pleasure to state that Mr. Warren M. Smaltz, who is a candidate for Holy Orders and a student at the Philadelphia Divinity School, was recently the recipient of the highest undergraduate honors which the school can give. Mr. Smaltz made the unusual average of 93.20 per cent for the entire year's work in the Junior Class. That average represents the highest grade made in the Divinity School in the last year, and the highest for several years last passed. He received the First Scholarship Prize of one hundred dollars in cash. This achievement is the more remarkable, when it is known that the Second Prize of fifty dollars was not awarded, no other student being deemed worthy of the honor.

One record of the Divinity School was broken by Mr. Smaltz, when he received the grade of an even one hundred per cent in the department of Systematic Divinity. No similar grade has ever been attained by any person in the long history of the college. In view of his handicap of deafness among classmates not so afflicted, Mr. Smaltz deserves added credit for the achievement. When asked how he accomplished the feat, Mr. Smaltz declared it was the result altogether of hard and ceaseless toil directed upon one given object, to the exclusion of all things that might hinder his work. We hope therefore that critics who have lately been murmuring over the seeming indifference of this successful young student, to various social and other affairs, will understand that he was merely concentrating all his energies upon the goal he had set for himself.

Mr. Smaltz is a graduate of the Stoucheburg High School, the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf at Mt. Airy, the Keystone State Normal School, and received his Bachelor Degree in Arts from the Philadelphia Central High in 1916. When he left the last named school he specialized in chemistry and held responsible positions in large industrial plants. However, after long and serious thought, he decided to take up theology in order that he might devote his life-work among his fellow deaf. It was a great change for one who had hitherto shown a tendency to be a free-thinker; but, probably the thought that his father was a minister, together with the importunity of friends who showed the need of an increase in the deaf ministry, which had suffered by several deaths in the last few years, he was finally won over. What glory and remuneration in coming years he thus sacrificed by the change we do not know, but we know that "Man proposes and God disposes."

Mr. Smaltz has the attributes of an earnest and deep student, and seems destined to become one of the best spiritual leaders of the deaf, but the fact that he is a Philadelphian, or product of this State, should not be taken so early as a foregone conclusion that he will be the one logical successor to the present incumbent of All Souls' Church for the Deaf. Mr. Smaltz has hatched no such design, but he has repeatedly declared it to be his desire and aim to go through the full college course for the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology. If he wins his goal, he will have established a record in the deaf ministry, for none has as yet obtained that degree. Let us wish him success—hearty success!

Now, we have said a good bit more about our young friend than we had intended to, but we believe it will be interesting news to a large number of the deaf of the country, who will now join with us in watching Mr. Smaltz's star in its ascendancy in the deaf world.

By the way, let us "bray" one more little secret into the ears of our readers and then we will be done with our "braying." It is that Mr. Smaltz is an oral graduate and a good talker and lip-reader, in spite of all the fables he may have written. Ha, ha!

The question has been frequently asked why the many buildings which compose the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Mount Airy, were given the distinctive names they bear. From sources historical and otherwise has been gleaned the information that more than a generation ago, when the subject of naming the buildings came up, it was decided by the Board of Directors not to name the main buildings after persons either living or dead, but to give them impersonal names—preferably local. Hence the euphonious names: Wissinoming Hall and Wingohocking Hall, after local tribes of Indians; Cresheim Hall, after an early German settlement on Cresheim Creek, Chestnut Hill. Wissinoming or Wissinaming, and there are other English spellings of that Indian word, is the name given to a creek emptying into the Delaware River in the neighborhood of Tacony by the Leni Lennape Indians. Its literal meaning is "a place where we were frightened or put to flight."

Wingohocking, another Indian name, familiar to old residents of Germantown, who can recall the creek of that name running in years gone by near the east side of the Reading Railway, in the vicinity of Church Lane, and the now existing Wingohocking station at that point of the railroad, means a "favorite place for planting;" the name of a stream of water emptying into the Delaware River. It was also the name of an Indian chief of the Leni Lennape tribe, which roamed in that vicinity about or prior to the Revolutionary War. Cresheim, or Krisheim, is the name given by the early German settlers of Germantown to the valley and stream that flows through it, in honor of their native village on the River Rhine. The tract of land was purchased from William Penn in 1687. The stream marks the boundary line between Mount Airy and Chestnut Hill, and empties into the romantic Wissahickon Creek at a spot called "Devil's Pool." This picturesque stream flows through woodlands that are practically still in their virgin state. Morris Hall, the trades teaching department, was the name given by the donors, John T. and Miss Letitia Morris, who erected the building in memory of their esteemed parents. Mr. Morris later added a substantial addition to the main building in recognition of the educational work done in behalf of the deaf by Superintendent A. L. E. Crouter.—Phila Record.

The Independence Hall Branch of the N. A. D., which was successfully organized a short time ago, is going to have an all-day outing to historic Valley Forge, on Sunday, July 9th. The trip will be made by autotruck, and a large number of people have already declared their intention of going. Mr. S. H. Chambers on his tour of the state as field officer of P. I. D. came across in the York County Alms House.—

Julia Grove, possibly fifty years old, or older, in good health and able to work.

An unknown deaf man found wandering around the County. Uneducated, does not know signs, can not tell his name and can not tell where his home is. He is about forty five years old, and one of the best workers on the County farm.

"Wyndblough," the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Flenner at Chester Heights, was the scene of a beautiful wedding on June 16th, at 11 A.M., when Miss Miriam Flenner and Walter Clinton Rockwell, of Hartford, Ct., were married by the Rev. John I. Meek, of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, of Chester, Pa. The beautiful ring ceremony of the Lutheran Church was used and the bride was given away by her father.

Miss Elizabeth Flenner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Lawrence Flenner, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Gallaudet College. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rockwell, of Hartford, parents of the bridegroom were present. Other guests came from Colorado, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, after which the couple left for a motor trip to the White Mountains, and through New England States. The future home of the couple will be 109 Kent Street, Hartford, Ct.

Baptized, May 24th (Wednesday), infant girl of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Flenner (Miss Hattie Dunner) at Wyndblough Farm, Glen Mills, Pa., by Rev. Mr. Danter. The sponsors were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Flenner.

Edward Downman aged seventy-one, Marcus Hook, Pa., entered the Home on June 6th. Was educated at Flint, Mich., Institution. A resident of Pennsylvania for fifty-six years. Lost his right arm near the elbow in a sawmill accident many years ago.

The Independence Hall Branch of the N. A. D., located here, will give an excursion to Wildwood, N. J., on Saturday, August 12, 1922.

The Gallaudet Club held its regular June meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lipsett in West Philadelphia, on Saturday evening, June 24th. Mr. and Mrs. Simone, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Lipsett, assisted to entertain the club.

From the Phila. Record, June 22d:—

The graduating exercises of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, were held yesterday morning in Wissinoming Hall, on the grounds of the school at Mt. Airy. A. R. Montgomery, President of Board of the Directors, presided, and the exercises opened with the reading of the Scriptures by Charles D. Kirby, one of the graduates, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Wood Stewart.

A feature of the program was the demonstration of work in the different departments of the school. The children who gave the demonstrations were Viola Morvay, Ethel Hill, Mamie Bronnoski, Anna Weidner, Joseph Anders and Stephen Tulay, of the primary class, with Miss Haeseler in charge; Dorothy Fallon, Andrew Hnatow, Howard Morgan, Samuel Barnach, William Randolph and Raymond Carlin, of the intermediate class, with Miss Dawes in charge, and Kathryn Frick and Grace Pearl, of the deaf and blind class, with Miss Irma Nuss in charge.

The feats of Kathryn Frick, of Harrisburg, and Grace Pearl, of this city, in the social department of the school, especially in the writing of historical essays and original poems on the typewriter, were regarded as phenomenal. The young women are, respectively, eighteen and nineteen years of age, and have been in the institution since they were small children. They will graduate next year.

Dr. Harris Taylor, of the Lexington Avenue School for the Deaf, New York, made the address to the graduates, and Rev. C. Orvis Dantzer pronounced the benediction.

The graduates were: Mary E. V. Bulger, Elda M. Coldren, Nora E. Ney, Agnes S. Robbins, Joseph J. Balasa, Carl Fragin, Torrence D. Hunter, John E. Kearns, Charles J. Killian, Charles D. Kirby, Joseph L. LaRocco, James B. Milligan, Charles B. Pillert, Albert D. Dries, Anthony Priest, Philip Katz, Carl Manson, James Meenan, Jethro F. Jacoby, Frank Belfus, Zella M. Welch.

Mr. Peter L. Ray, of Greensboro, N. C., gave a lecture on the Civil War as seen by himself, at the C. L. A. meeting, June 22d.

MARYLAND

REUNION OF ALUMNI AT MD. SCHOOL FOR DEAF—273 FORMER STUDENTS ATTENDED.

About 270 the Alumni of the Maryland State for the Deaf assembled at the Institution, June 10th, 11th, 12th, where the eighth quadrennial reunion was held. At one o'clock Saturday afternoon the former pupils began to assemble, and the front lawn was the scene of lively discourse as former classmates remotely scattered since school days greeted one another.

An informal reception was held on the lawn at 8 o'clock, at which time addresses of welcome were made by Richard P. Ross, Treasurer, and Ernest Helfenstein, Secretary, in behalf of the Board of Visitors, and by Superintendent Ignatius Bjorlee in behalf of the personnel of the school. Responses were made by John A. Trundle, Centerville, Rev. D. F. Moylan, Baltimore, and Henry Nicol, Washington.

On Sunday Services were conducted in the chapel at 11 A.M. by Rev. D. E. Moylan, Methodist Clergyman, and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by Rev. O. J. Whildin, Episcopal Clergyman, Baltimore. A unique and impressive service was held in the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, it being the occasion of a pilgrimage to Mt. Olivet Cemetery, where flowers were placed upon the grave of former Principal Charles W. Ely and the following service conducted: Invocation, Rev. C. J. Whildin; hymn, in sign language, "Lead, Kindly Light," Rev. D. E. Moylan; brief tribute to former benefactors of Maryland's deaf by George Fampel; hymn, "America," rendered in signs by four young ladies; benediction, Rev. U. S. C. Rupp, D.D.

With the meeting held at 10 o'clock Monday morning the eighth quadrennial alumni gathering came to an end. Mr. Harry Benson related the activities of the pupils in Athletics during recent years and elaborated upon the benefit of outside games for boys and girls alike.

Mr. J. A. Trundle read a paper entitled "Reminiscences." An alumni association, which shall have as its chief function the idea of disseminating knowledge of the school. It has been felt that if parents of deaf children throughout the State could be more accurately informed concerning the true nature of the school, there would be less reluctance on the part of some of them at the thought of having their children sent away from home. Only when children are sent to school at an early age and permitted to remain until their course is completed can satisfactory results be obtained. The deaf themselves appreciate what has been done in the matter of giving them a liberal education and are particularly anxious that others similarly handicapped be given every opportunity to gain an education.

OHIO.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. E. Greener, 909 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

June 17, 1922—Because of Rev. Read and family soon departing from the city, and taking up their residence in Florida, and because during his stay in Columbus and State, Mr. Read always manifested a friendly interest in the deaf and their doings, the G. C. A. A. Branch of Columbus, wished to show its appreciation and have him carry away with him some token of his stay here. It was arranged that he and family should dine Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clum at their home in Clintonville, north of the city.

These left Columbus on the 6:15 car:

Mr. and Mrs. Zorn, Mr. and Mrs. Ohlemacher, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Wark, Mrs. Zell, Miss Zell, Mr. Zell, Mrs. Winemiller and two children, Mrs. Callison, Mr. and Miss MacGregor, Miss Greener, Miss Toskey, Miss Durrant, Miss Newell, Mrs. Charles, Mr. Volp, Mrs. Edgar and sister, Miss Lamson, Mr. and Mrs. Clum and children, Mr. Showalter and the writer.

They entered the Clum home just about time the dinner was over and the Reads were truly surprised by the invasion, for their coming was unknown to them. The whole crowd after handshakings were over adjourned to the lawn, where conversation took up the time for a while. Next Mr. Read was prevailed upon to speak of the trip to and of the place he was to occupy. He and family will make the trip in his automobile and would start about June 22d. Going by way of Washington, Pa., Pittsburg, Gettysburg, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., Alexandria and on down to Florida. They will take along a camping outfit. Going by easy stages, and the trip will consume on that account two weeks. Reaching their destination he will work his farm. Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, beans, are good crops to raise, besides garden vegetables. Then also he will have charge of the public schools of the Green Cove Spring, a town of about 5000 inhabitants. He had also been asked to become the minister of a church there, but had declined the offer, as looking after his farm and the schools would keep his hands full. At this point Miss Zell reminded him he had said nothing of visiting Gallaudet College while in Washington. He answered that Dr. Hall had invited him to come there and he would pitch his tent on the campus. He thanked the deaf of the city for the friendship and courtesies they had evinced in him and family since their residence in Columbus, and if at any time they came down to his home in Florida, he would welcome them. As he was about to step from the porch, Mr. Zorn bade him go back, and in a few words commending his good qualities and interest in the deaf in general, asked him to accept the package he then handed him, as a memento from the Columbus G. C. A. A. and friends. Upon unwrapping the package he found a large vacuum thermos bottle with four cups within it.

Mr. Read was not prepared for such a mark of appreciation, and after regaining his self-control thanked the donors, adding that the gift would be very handy on his trip southward.

Mr. McGregor was asked to say a few words, and responded by saying he was jealous of Mr. Read. For he was an enthusiast for camping in his younger days, using a canoe in going from place to place, but the mode of travel has improved since then, so with a machine one can go anywhere now. He cautioned him to take good care of the thermos bottle, as some day he may come down to see him in Florida and camp out there, and the bottle would come very handy.

After the speeches, ice-cream, cake, salted peanuts, and mints were served, after which the company separated for their homes. Mr. Read's son making several trips and the car line taking guests of the evening there.

This year's closing of school was different from all former ones. Promotions had been announced Monday afternoon, as a result of the year's work. Tuesday's session commenced at 8 o'clock and then pupils passed to their new teachers and rooms, so when school re-opens in the fall both will know where to go. Heretofore the change was not made till then. The change was made in less than half an hour, and with it came the end of the school year. Dinner was served earlier than usual, to allow those of the pupils who could take the noon trains to depart. More than half of the pupils had left for their homes before evening, the rest followed the next morning.

Six of the present force of teachers have resigned, so there will be that many new faces in the corps next fall when the school re-opens. There may be other resignations or vacancies caused by death, but we hope not from this latter source. Superintendent Jones went to St.

Louis, Wednesday evening, to attend the Progressive Oral Advocates meeting. He was down for the subject of "Language for the Deaf" Friday afternoon.

We clip the following from the Columbus Dispatch of Friday:

HARDLY EQUAL TO HIS JOB.

Sir:—Yesterday noon the Ohio State School for the Deaf dismissed for the year. As is the custom each teacher at the institution was expected to see each child of her grade to the proper train for the trip home. Three teachers with their charges boarded a High Street car and on reaching the Union station attempted to get them off. The first two of the small deaf-mutes did get off, but the third boy in the line mixed up his suitcase, his umbrella and his legs, so completely that he held up the whole line. He was struggling to get out of the car, but the motorman, though watching him at his struggles and though seeing the whole line of gesticulating mutes behind him, calmly closed the door and started the car.

The two mutes left on the pavement were scared almost to hysteria, for they saw the bar going on and their teachers, who had their tickets, were riding by them, and they were without money and also without any one to interpret for them. The teachers and the other children had the pleasure of walking back a block, loaded down with their parcels, bags, etc.

A motorman of that type is just the one to lift up his voice about the brutality of capital towards honest labor as represented by himself. This is to inform him if he is not too illiterate to read that he was not putting capital in its proper place by his rudeness to the mutes and teachers, for the mutes have no money at all, and many of the teachers work for the wealthy State of Ohio for seventy dollars per month, minus three deducted for a so-called pension.

The Columbus Advance Society will picnic at the Home for Deaf, July 4th. The program has nine athletic events down for the day, for which prizes will be given the winners. A good time is promised, and deaf residing near are cordially invited. Bus leaves the Institution grounds about 8 A.M. Round trip 50 cents. Bus goes direct to the Home, so there will be no walking to do.

Miss Angelina Bunting, a pupil of the school, will pass the vacation at the school, and will have charge of the Superintendent's dining room.

A. B. G.

June 24, 1922.—The Columbus Branch of the N. A. D. had a well attended meeting on the evening of the 15th inst., in the Library of the School, 40 being present. Miss Catherine Toskey, vice-president, presided and dispatched business with a rush and kept the secretary busy noting the proceedings.

Mr. Volp and Mrs. Callison were announced as a committee for Labor Day entertainment, to be given at the school for members of the Alumni Association, who may wish to spend the day in the city after the adjournment of the reunion.

The secretary, who had been directed to write the police authorities of the city asking them to secure some deaf person when they had an impostor on their hands claiming to be deaf, read her letter to the chief, and also one from the latter in which he thanked the association for the suggestion and promised to carry it out when occasion requires.

Another letter was read from Mr. Dale Wolf, who gave a talk at the last meeting of the Branch on the Rehabilitation Service, and for which the Branch sent him a check for five dollars. He had no expectation of receiving compensation for his talk. He proposed to devote the money deserving disabled men or women, who are in real need, and hoped it would meet with the approval of the members of the Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Elsey, Misses Tina Schwertman and Rosa Fletcher were admitted as members.

A collection was taken up to pay for prizes at the 4th of July athletic contests at the Home for Deaf, when the Advance Society picnic is to be held during the day. The Columbus Advance Society, Ladies' Aid Society, Columbus N. A. D. Branch and the Columbus Division have each made a donation to the amount. Buses leave the School grounds at 8 A.M. Round trip fifty cents.

A talk on the United States Flag was given by Mr. Zorn, in which he explained the meaning of the colors, the stripes and stars. Mr. Ohlemacher followed by asking how many stars they could see on the flag pinned above the mantelpiece, and then explained how the Boy Scouts were taught to use the flag. Miss Dorothy Durrant recited Flag of our Union, and at its close all rising repeated in concert the oath of allegiance to the Flag.

After adjournment fruit punch was served by Miss Nellie Lindsey. The Dayton Silents played a game of base-ball last Sunday in Dayton. This clipping was given us anent it;

"Lefty" McBlane fanned 17 Booster batsmen in the game between the Silents and the Boosters Sunday, but that feat failed to win for the Silents team which fell before the Boosters, 7 to 6. The Silents also connected for 13 hits while the Boosters made 6, but that also failed to win. In the field, the Boosters made five cracks and the Silents slipped up twice, still the Boosters won. The game was played at the Soldiers home grounds.

The score R. H. E.
Silents 0 1 0 0 0 4 0 1-6 18 2
Boosters 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 4-7 6 5
Batteries—McBlane and Hatfield; Sipe, Holten and Holten.
Two-base hits—McBlane, Kuhbander, Schindler. Three-base hits—Stebelon, Burford and Kuhbander. Struck out—By McBlane 17, by Sipe 2, by Holten 2. Base on balls—Of McBlane 2, Sipe 7, Holten 2. Double play—Cortman to Schindler.

After the game the Commander of the Soldiers Home, where the game was played, presented a silver cup to the team, because of their fine and gentlemanly playing.

The Columbus Division of the N. E. S. D., gave a lawn fete Saturday evening last on the school grounds from 4 to 9 P.M. There was a large attendance and the division is the richer by some $40 or $50.

Last Sunday's Dispatch pictured Miss Ethelburger Zell upon a float, which was in the parade of the community service of the villages of Grandview, upper Arlington and Marble Clipp. The float represented "Fortuna," and was awarded first prize for being the most beautiful of all in the parade. Miss Zell is represented as the driver, and judging from the number of reins she was holding must have had a half dozen pair of steeds; however, to be truthful, all of them were of the two-legged kind—in other words, the residents of the street drew the car.

Toledo Division, No. 16, N. F. S. D., recently celebrated its 15th anniversary with a banquet, in the Y. M. C. A. private dining room. The eats were of the No. 1 kind and after the feast came an intellectual one. Edward Hetzel acted as toastmaster, and John Curry did himself glory in the oratorical line. Other speakers were Nathan Henick, Harry Augustus, Norbert Pillard, Richard King, Frank Neal, Samuel Henry and Julius Hubay.

The division will have a picnic at the Wills Park on July 4th, and will welcome all outsiders to join them.

Mr. Richard King will be in charge of it, with Louis Blum, W. Morrison, J. Hubay, N. Henick and others as aids.

Sunday, August 13th, Toledo division, No. 16 N. F. S. D., will picnic with the Detroit Division at Sugar Island. The boat leaves Toledo at 8:30 A.M. Returning boat leaves Sugar Island about 5:30 P.M. The boat ride will cost $1, for the round trip. Others than Frats wishing to go up there can secure nickels from the hustlers, corner of Summit and Madison Aves. Sugar Island is a nice place to those desiring a day's recreation from the heat and dusty streets of a city.

Mrs. Nathan Henick, of Toledo, is visiting her parents in Chicago and will be there for some time yet.

Our information is that Mr. Thomas S. McAloney has been appointed superintendent of the Colorado School for the Deaf at Colorado Springs, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Superintendent Mrs. Isabella C. Argo.

OFFICIAL.

Mr. Henry L. Stafford, 5 South 12th Avenue East, Duluth, Minnesota, has accepted appointment as a member of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Fund Committee, in place of Mr. Anton Schroeder, of St. Paul, resigned. Mr. Stafford's general field will be the Northwestern States, formerly looked after by Mr. Schroeder.

St. Louis, June 14th. President.

A Suggestion.

This is convention year for a large number of State Associations for the Deaf. Our papers are printing alluring forecasts of the big times that will be accorded the deaf at their many "reunions" to be held this summer. These announcements indicate the advancement that the deaf are making all along the line, and our progress toward our common objectives will be accelerated if State and other Associations of the Deaf will move as one great body—the National Association of the Deaf.

Let us make our State Conventions preliminaries of the Grand Event to be held in Atlanta next summer—the fourteenth triennial convention of the National Association of the Deaf, which will be in reality an international affair.

Atlanta 1923! Let every convention of the deaf held this summer adopt the slogan.

DEAF-MUTES' UNION LEAGUE'S OUTING.

For the second time in its history of thirty-two years, the Deaf-Mutes' Union League held an Outing and Athletic Games, at Ulmer Park Athletic Field, on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 17th, 1922.

It rained in the morning, but the afternoon was clear and cool, permitting the ball game between the Deaf-Mutes' Union League team and Newark Frats, No. 42, to be played, which resulted in a tie 3 to 3 in the 5th inning, but in the extra inning the League's ace pitcher, Uhl, who was saving his wing for a semi-professional contest, was induced to go in the box, and he held the Frats' scoreless, while the League by timely hitting and fine base stealing got a man across, thus winning the game by a score of 4 to 3. It was a good game and very much enjoyed by the large crowd present. Mr. Frank T. Lux and a deaf man from New Jersey officiated as umpires.

The athletic games followed immediately after the ball game, but not with dispatch, as they should have been, as there were indications of rain, but at outtings of this character, the committee are usually handicapped with so much to do that some delay was caused in speeding up things. In other respects everything went through as scheduled.

The officers of the day were: Referee and Timer, Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson; Starter, Mr. Frank T. Lux; Judges, Messrs. J. C. Sturtz, Hyman Gordon and I. Kopolowitz.

The program was arranged so as give the men ample time to rest between races—a very good arrangement it proved to be, because after running the 100 yards dash, the next race was for ladies, thus giving the runners ample time for rest to compete in the next event.

All the events were run off. The last, which is always the most exciting—the one mile relay—was run off in a heavy downpour of rain. All the spectators had to run to cover, leaving the runners and an official alone on the track.

MEN.

100 yards dash—Won by Kraser; Yager, second; Donnelly, third. All of Fanwood A. A. Winner's time, 10½ seconds.

220 yards dash—Won by Yager; Fox, second; Donnelly, third. All of Fanwood A. A. Winner's time, 20½ seconds.

440 yards dash—Won by Wiseman, Beson A. A.; Fox, Fanwood A. A., second; Higgins, Oakland, third. Winner's time, 58 seconds.

One mile and half run—Won by Conklin, Fanwood A. A.; Stockley, St. Christopher A. A., second; Wiemuth, Men's Club of St. Ann's Church, third. Winner's time, 8 minutes, 17 seconds.

In the one mile relay, the contest was between the Fanwood A. A. and the Beson A. A. The Fanwood looked to be sure winner, as up to the third man they had a commanding lead, but the Beson A. A., who kept their fastest man last, by a burst of speed managed to catch up with the Fanwood runner who was ahead, and pass him at the finish. The Beson A. A. team was composed of Messrs. Mayers, Walker, Wiseman and Cohen. Time, 6 minutes, 12 seconds.

The first and second in each event were awarded medals. In the relay race, the winners each got a handsome gold medal.

The loving cup for the highest points scored in the games was won by the Fanwood A. A., which scored 26 points. The next nearest was the Beson A. A., a team composed of hearing men, which made 14 points.

The Fanwoods are to be congratulated. They were trained to the minute, and had they sent more to compete, they might have won in every event.

LADIES.

50 yards dash—Won by Miss Julia Solomon; Miss Miriam Robins second.

The rope skipping contest was run in two heats. Miss Julia Solomon the first heat, Miss Miriam Robins was second. In the second heat only Miss Todris finished. The final heat was won by Miss Julia Solomon.

Perhaps the 220 yards walk (reduced to 50 yards) was the most amusing. It was in two heats. In the first heat all were ruled out for running. In the second heat Miss Anna Hoffman won, and as there was nobody to contest with in the first heat, she was declared the winner.

In the ball throwing contest, Miss S. Sachlanger won.

The affair was under the able management of Messrs. Joseph Worzel (Chairman), Abraham Barr and Leo Berzon, who will yet be heard in the management of sports, as they are the Athletic Committee of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League. Thus far they have covered themselves with glory.

There was some delay in starting the dance program in the evening, for the reason that the Harris Jazz Orchestra from New Rochelle met with a delay in reporting to the Park, as the trolley car they were on was struck by the lightning during the thunderstorm, but they finally got there, and the dancing did not lag one minute till midnight, the hour when dancing must cease nowadays, a new law and good for all concerned too.

I almost forgot to state that while waiting for the aforesaid orchestra to appear, through the courtesy of Mr. William Texter, the proprietor of Ulmer Park, a pianist was sent over to furnish dance music, which was greatly appreciated by every one, especially by the President of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, Mr. Anthony Capelle, who made the request.

At a rousing and enthusiastic preliminary rally held at Loeffler's Hall, 148th Street and Willis Avenue, Bronx, the initial steps were taken to give the Borough of the Bronx a Division of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, on Tuesday evening, June 6th. The charter for the Division, which will be numbered "93" will be issued in time for a grand Installation early in July. Bro. Jos Graham presided and he introduced Grand Vice President A. L. Pach, who spoke for a half hour and told some of the recent accomplishments of the order. Other speakers were Messrs. Keiber, Shea, Berger, Ebin, Miller, Leghorn and Dianom. Loeffler's Hall is right at the busiest corner in the Bronx and will be the home of the Bronx "93" boys. There will be socials there on June 20th, July 4th and 18th, to which all the deaf and their friends are invited. The Bronx gets a Division in accordance with the amended laws of the N. F. S. D. adopted at Atlanta last July, and a great deal is to be expected of the Division, as the Bronx has a large deaf population, and a large school for the deaf, yet has no church, club, or local organization of the deaf of any kind, so the "Frat" division there is sure to prosper, particularly since they intend to have frequent social affairs open to all the deaf, their wives, sweethearts and children, with race and religious lines entirely disregarded. In other words, the Bronx Frats are going to make life interesting for the residents of that Borough, who have for years had to journey to Manhattan and Brooklyn for social relaxation. Fratdom is making great strides with old Brooklyn Division (23), Newark Division (42), Manhattan Division (87), Jersey City Division (91), and the Bronxites (93), all hustling for new material and all working for "the good of the order."

XAVIER EPHPHETA SOCIETY NOTES

The first Sunday of June saw the closing of services at St. Francis Xavier's. Father Dalton's smile and cheery welcome had lost none of their magnetism. He wished all a pleasant vacation, and admonished all on the necessity of standing up for their faith at all times and all seasons. That he may be returned to the assignment in charge of the X. E. S. after July 31st, when the annual transfers of the Jesuit Fathers take effect, is to be earnestly wished for. All the members of the X. E. S. are eagerly anticipating their pastor's superiors may decide to retain Father Dalton in charge of the deaf. Many others, not of the faith, who have come to know the results of his work, also express the opinion that his retention will be for the best interests of the Ephpheta fold.

Except that there will be the usual Ephpheta Sunday Mass on the Feast Day, which occurs Sunday, August 20th, no other meeting of the society will be held during the summer months. While no definite plans have been decided upon, it is probable quite a number of the members will spend the day following service at 9 A.M., at Mamouth Beach. President Cosgrove announces if other plans materialize due notice will be made through the JOURNAL.

St. Rose's Church Sunday School for the Catholic pupils at Fanwood closed on June 16th. The usual treat was provided the sixty-eight boys and girls by Rev. Father McCaffrey. To help out Mrs. R. Drennen, Miss M. Lamberson, Messrs. William May and Thomas Cosgrove, of the teaching staff, jumped in with alacrity. A kind friend, whose modesty forbids mention of name, donated a check towards the enjoyment of Professor Gardner's pupils. As a result the treat provided was trebled. The pupils evidenced their appreciation, and with their teachers, tendered a vote of thanks to the donor.

Pach's photos of the recent Mission held under X. E. S. auspices have given entire satisfaction. Steps are under way to have copies sent to other centres, with a note accompanying that the Ephphetans of other sections may go and do likewise.

Miss Mae Anstra, the indefatigable worker and secretary of the X. E. S., was taken seriously ill recently. On the advice of her physician she was removed to the North Hudson (N. J.) Hospital for treatment. At this institution her sister is a member of the Nursing Staff, and hopes are entertained under her care Mae's convalescing will be but a short time distant.

The closing reception of the Xavier Branch De l'Epee Society occurs this Sunday evening, at K. C. Institute, Brooklyn. President Fogarty looks for a record attendance. A good time is promised. An effort is in the making to secure the use of a Knight of Columbus assembly room, in which the X. E. S. may add to their social prestige by holding monthly meetings.

RILEY—LEIBERZ.

On Saturday evening, June 17th, at 6 o'clock, a select company of friends and relatives gathered in St. Ann's Church to witness the prettiest wedding ever held in that church. The happy couple were Mr. Sylvan Riley, of Mt. Vernon, and Miss Lillian Leibertz.

The bridal procession was led by dainty Dorothy Aufort, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Aufort, who acted as flower girl. Following her, in the path of roses, came Miss Marie Leibertz, hearing sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Her dress was of henna canton crepe, trimmed with beads, and black lace hat. Then came the bride accompanied by her brother, Herbert, who gave her away. She was attired in a beautiful gown of tan canton crepe with hat to match. The procession was met at the altar by Mr. Riley and bestman, Mr. Edward Doenges. Rev. John H. Kent officiated.

After the service, all were invited downstairs for refreshments—ice cream, cake and "punch."

During the reception the bride cut a large cake, and it was distributed among the guests. At 8 o'clock the bride and groom departed for a two weeks' honeymoon at Atlantic City, N. J. They will be at home at 145 South Second Avenue after the first of July. There were about seventy-five people present, among them the following: J. Harold Dumphy, Mrs. C. Sperle, Mr. and Mrs. Bachmann, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Keller, the Misses Wadag, Mrs. Herbert Leibertz, Mrs. Harry Webber, Mr. and Mrs. Mellis, Mrs. Doenges, Frank Boyce, Hollis, L. I., the Misses Kaufmann, Begley, Anna M. Klaus, Martha Klaus, and Zella Bernstein, M. Carluo, George Beckham, William Aufort, Joseph Marks and Mrs. Platt, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. John Longworth and sons, Jack, William and Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Weiss and daughter, Mrs. Carrie Fortier, Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. James Proctor, Mrs. Daniel Graeff, Mr. Boust, Mrs. Ruth Rosenthal and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Callahan. Many costly presents were received of silver and linen and other materials, all of which were evidently selected with good judgment for serviceability. One highly appreciated by Mr. Riley was a beautiful piano lamp, because it came from his fellow co-workers in the Mt. Vernon Trust Company, where he holds a responsible position.

A group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O'Brien, grasping the opportunity to show the appreciation and esteem both are held by their acquaintances, held a social reception in their honor recently, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Melley, in the Bedford section of Brooklyn.

Had the committee cared to do so, it would have been necessary to secure a hall to accommodate all that surely would have been glad to attend. As things were, the parlor represented a small movie audience, but soon became one happy, appreciative assembly.

Parlor games, jokes, dances and "sleight-of-hand" tricks kept all in good humor for the entire evening. To say there was a dull moment, would bring a barrage of denials, as everyone expressed a desire for a repetition in the near future.

Light refreshments were served before departing time, which was pretty nearly midnight.

Joseph Dennen was the life of the party. Joe, as he is known, will be remembered by his school-day friends as a very comical person. His motto seems to be "Always yours for a laugh," and he lived up to it. His mysterious sleight-of-hand assortment proved that he can, in time, equal any of the best. Mr. Austin Fogarty also added to the evening's pleasure, as did Knopp, Cosgrove, Gabriel and Miss Anstra, Mrs. Chris. Fitzgerald, and the Lambertson sisters. Nearly all took a "whack" at the "Newly weds."

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien were the recipients of a handsome electric floor lamp, the gift of the friends present or otherwise engaged for the evening. Among those present were:

Miss M. Anstra, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Dennen, Miss K. Doyle, Mrs. Eichele, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Fitzgerald, Austin Fogarty, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gabriel, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kieckers, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Knopp, Misses K. and M. Lambertson, Mrs. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Melley, Miss A. Menton, Paul Murtagh, Miss J. Stass and Miss Watinough.

Those otherwise engaged for the evening, but with us in spirit, were: Mr. and Mrs. Drennen, Sylvester J. Fogarty, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hitchcock, Mr. McInerney, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kane, Edward Lambertson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lonergan, Alex. L. Pach, Harry J. Powell and John D. Shea.

H. A. D. NOTES.

About 150 persons attended the free Family Outing given by the Hebrew Association of the Deaf, at Van Cortlandt Park, last Sunday, June 25th. The attendance would undoubtedly have been much larger, had it not been for the threatening rain which kept many away.

The chief feature was, of course, the children, who swarmed all over the park, and to prevent their getting "losted," special games were inaugurated in their honor, with the following results:

Jumping Race—Julia Solomon and Bernard Morrison.

Running Race—Martha Glass and Bertram Awerbach.

Skipper Race—Shirley Plapinger and Leo Goldberg.

Those who lost started to howl, and their parents were obliged to invest in lolly-pops to soothe the injured feelings of these infant prodigies.

All in all, it was the perfect end of a perfect day. We are not to blame for the downpour that occurred later in the evening.

PICNIC SATURDAY, JULY 1

The Picnic and Games of the K. L. D., Saturday, July 1st, at Ulmer Park, Brooklyn, will give a fine list of games. "Among them: Baseball game between the K. L. D. and the Union League; 100 yards dash; 440 yards dash; one mile walk; three mile race. A loving cup will be awarded to the best dancers. An American flag will be given to the club having the most members in attendance—rain or shine. Music by Basend Orchestra.

A SORORITY OF DEAF LADIES.

There seems to be no end of clubs for the deaf in this city, but like the proverbial guest, there is always room for "one more."

To supply a long felt want among the Jewish women of this city, a new organization has sprung up, which will be an independent literary sorority and the object will be to provide some kind of sick benefit for its members.

Mrs. Culmer Barnes has been elected to act as President. It may be remembered that she was the first Jewish graduate of Gallaudet College. If interested in its movement, communicate with Mrs. Arnold A. Cohn, Secretary and Treasurer, 699 East 137th Street, Bronx.

It often surprises folks to learn how some of their friends posing as care-free bachelors, are really basking in connubial bliss. The latest to emerge from obscurity are Mr. and Mrs. William F. May. They entered the matrimonial estate almost a year ago, July 2d, to be exact. The ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Star of the Sea Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. A sister of the bride, Miss Margaret M. Lillis, acted as bridesmaid, with Mr. Kelly H. Stevens, of Texas, Class of 1920, Gallaudet, groomsmen. Only a few were let in the secret, and these few managed to keep it. Mr. May graduated from Gallaudet College last year. Mrs. May was Agnes F. Lillis, one of New York's most popular young women. They are at present living in Newark, N. J. There, the secret is out. Congratulations.

Thomas J. Hunt, a machinist, died Thursday, June 15th, at his home, 136 Grattan Street, Brooklyn. He was born in New York City, June 18th, 1875, and had been a resident of Brooklyn for twelve years. He is survived by a widow, Amelia; two sons, John and Thomas; and two brothers, Edward and William. Requiem mass was celebrated at the Church of Our Sorrowful Mother, Morgan Avenue and Grattan Street. Interment at Calvary Cemetery.

Miss Lillian, eldest of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Schoenfeld's three daughters, left on the 16th of June for California. She will stop at the Grand Canyon and other places of interest. Mrs. Wallace will entertain her for two weeks in San Francisco. Many friends and relatives gathered at the station to bid her farewell, and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. She will return during July.

While on a visit to a farmer friend near Bayonne, N. J., Misses Katie Ehrlich and Elizabeth Malcraire had a narrow escape from death. It was an June 11th, during the fierce thunderstorm. They were carrying a green silk umbrella as protection from the rain when a bolt of lightning struck it and smashed it to pieces. Neither of the young ladies was hurt, but both were badly frightened.

Miss Gertrude Smith, of Boston, has been visiting friends in New York for a week. She attended the meeting of the Fanwood Alumni Association, and met many friends and schoolmates. Miss Smith is employed in the Boston Trust Company, and is regarded as exceptionally clever in the different classes of work required in the bank.

Josie Goldman, the leading florist of Middletown, O., is in New York for a week or ten days. It is thirty or more years since he was here last, but he is as bright, lively, and engaging as when he graduated from the Lexington Avenue School.

The marriage of Miss Nadine Lavond to Mr. Aurelius Douglas Ruggero is announced. The ceremony was performed at Los Angeles, Cal., on Wednesday morning, June 14th, 1922. Both are Fanwood graduates of two or three years ago.

Meritt Klopsch is now a benedict, having been married to a fair young lady named Miss Ida Darling. The ceremony occurred at St. Ann's Church, on the afternoon of Saturday, June 17th, Rev. John H. Kent officiating.

Mrs. E. Daekermann went to Towona, N. J., last week, and may stay there for a month with her aged sister. Her little daughter will go there when school closes, at the end of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Osmond Loew, with their daughter, Helene, have gone to Port Washington, L. I., for the summer. Osmond is now a commuter.

Mrs. E. Souweine is reported to be quite sick at her home in the Bronx.

Gallaudet College.

The fifty-eighth commencement exercises of Gallaudet College were held in Chapel Hall, June 13th, at four o'clock. The stage had been tastefully decorated with crimson carpets and hangings and with a profusion of ferns and palms. The procession into the chapel was led by the Seniors, in a line of twos. When the sign was given by the Marshal the lines parted and faced each other, making a passage for the rest of the procession. President Hall, escorting the principal speaker, Postmaster General Herbert Work; members of the Board of Directors; members of the Faculty and guests, then moved up to the stage and took their places. Invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Freeman Anderson, assistant pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, and interpreted by Dr. Hall.

The class orations were "American Doves," rendered in the sign-language by Meta Carolyn Hausman; "Modern Slaves," by Wesley Lauritsen; and "Progress," by George M. Teegarden.

Degrees were conferred by President Hall with the assistance of Vice-President Charles R. Ely.

The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon Marne Lauritsen, B.A., University of Minnesota, and Jean Wolverson, B.A., Gallaudet College.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts was awarded to Wesley Lauritsen, Minnesota; John Jacob Marty, Iowa; Edwin Earl Maczkowski, Michigan; and Maurice Werner, Minnesota.

The degree of Bachelor of Science was awarded to Julia Catherine Dodd, Oregon; Etta May Earsley, Minnesota; Meta Carolyn Hausman; Gertrude Lewis, New York; Edwin Alexander McNeal, Washington; and Sara Francis Tuck, Kentucky.

A Normal Student certificate was presented to Furman Ingle, Massey School, of Tennessee.

An honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon George M. Teegarden, of Pennsylvania.

The address given by Postmaster General Work emphasized self-development and honesty as essentials to successful leadership. He urged the graduates to adapt themselves to their environment and to take the Bible as their guide. He spoke at length upon the late Supt. Argo, of the Colorado School for the Deaf, who, in his capacity as President of the Board of Directors of the Colorado School, he came to know intimately.

Following the ceremonies, Dr. and Mrs. Hall received at their residence until seven o'clock.

The Senior Prom was held in Gymnasium Hall, Monday evening, from 8 to 1 o'clock. It was a very successful affair.

Monday, June 12th, was Class Day. The colors of '22 waved from the clock tower. In the afternoon the class day ceremonies were held on the front campus. From the stand, constructed for the occasion and covered with a cloth of the class colors, Maurice Werner read the Class History. The reading of the Last Will and Testament was made by Sara Tuck. The Class Prophet was Earl Maczkowski. Refreshments were served by the Seniors in cap and gown, as is the custom.

The Junior Class gave a party in honor of the Seniors on the evening of June 10th, in the Fowler Hall reading room. As it was a rather warm evening, games and dancing were left out of the program.

The Y. M. C. A. gave a farewell party to the Seniors in Chapel Hall, from eight to ten o'clock, on the evening of June 9th. The undergraduates, members of the faculty and friends attended.

Saturday morning, June 10th, the undergraduates assembled in Chapel Hall for the Valedictory address. Preceding its delivery, Dr. Hall announced the prize winners for the year. The Alumni prizes for the best contributions to the Buff and Blue were awarded to Anson K. Mills, '23, for his poem "The Bad Lands;" to Lawrence Randall, '23, for his story "Wanted for Murder;" and to Wesley Lauritsen, '22, for his essay "Our Fortune." The prizes for the best kept rooms went to the following: For the best rooms in Fowler Hall, to Misses Kilcoyne, '24, and Pence, '24; to Misses Earsley, '22, and Hausman, '22. For the best kept rooms in College Hall, to Messrs. Edwin McNeal, '22, and Earl Maczkowski, '22, and Messrs. Teitelbaum, '23, and Grifing, '24. The Veditz prize for the highest average in the Junior studies went to Anson K. Mills, '23. The Veditz prize for the highest mark in Senior French went to Etta Earsley.

The valedictory was delivered by Earl Maczkowski on behalf of his classmates.

Failing to get the vote of confidence which he had asked for before taking up his duties as Literary editor of the Buff and Blue, Orman, '23, tendered his resignation. Lawrence Randall, '23, was then nominated to the office.

Most of the undergraduates had left the Green by Wednesday morning. The Seniors were permitted to remain until Friday.

"The lights are out, and gone are all the guests Who thronged came with merriment and jests."

Greensburg, Pa.

Our genial friend, John F. V. Long, has been suffering with two carbuncles in the back of his neck for almost a month, although he is getting over these awful ones.

Edwin C. Harah, who is still a resident of Casselman, where he devotes most of his time to his coal interests, was recently in the county seat. Ye local happened to meet him at one of the local stores, and had a pleasant chat with him, about an hour prior to Edwin's leaving for Connellsville. From what we can learn, Fred Woods, of Connellsville, is busy sign-painting a goodly number of business buildings down there, and can make lots of money out of the business.

One of the local daily newspapers says that two prominent ladies, members of the Westmoreland Chapter, Red Cross, discovered a deaf-mute named William Potts, in Coveville, in the County of Westmoreland, and that he will be sent to the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, to be educated, in the autumn, through the Westmoreland Chapter. Of course, this boy is unknown to us.

"Rex" spent Decoration Day sporting around the "Smoky City." On his return home he stopped off in Wilkesburg in the evening for a brief visit with his old friend, Mrs. Lizzie Woodside. This estimable old lady apprised your scribe that she enjoyed a prolonged visit with her son and family, and other friends in St. Louis, but that she was so glad that she got back home to her numberless friends in this western end of the Commonwealth, where she has resided all her life. Well, it's cause for pleasure that she looks in splendid health, considering her advanced age.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bosworth, of Swiss vale, are enjoying a period of quiet rest at the home of the former's parents in Scotland. Mr. Bosworth follows the profession of architect. He has been for several months confined to the house, due to a general breakdown, but we are pleased to state that he is considerably improved in his health.

Your scribe has been wrestling with a severe attack of lumbago for almost three weeks.

On Sunday, June 4th, out in the country, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Gettins, a pleasant birthday dinner party was held in honor of Mrs. Gettins. She was showered with hearty congratulations and lots of useful and pretty birthday presents. At twelve o'clock dinner was served, and then a social hour followed.

Among those who participated in the function were Mr. and Mrs. Felix S. Hogenmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haley, of Jeannette; Mr. and Mrs. James G. Pool, of Hunker; Mrs. Julia Collins, of Youngwood; Messrs. Roy Nordstrom, Harry Fox and Rex, of Greensburg.

"Big Jim" Prindler, Roy Nordstrom and Harry Fox, three great pals, no doubt enjoy swimming at the old Stone Quarry below the P. R. R. these hot days.

Miss Cecilia Bell has returned from Edgewood School, where she has been pursuing her studies, and is spending this summer vacation with her parents in this community.

ALABAMA.

SILENT CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN MOBILE IN JULY—ALABAMA ASSOCIATION OF THE DEAF TO HOLD BIENNIAL FOUR-DAY CONVENTION TO OPEN JULY 8.

Recognizing the importance of Mobile as a convention headquarters, the Alabama Association of the Deaf will hold its fifth biennial convention here during July 6, to July 9. Over 200 persons from all sections of Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee are expected to attend, and there will be lectures for the deaf. Meetings will be open to the public and all deaf persons, whether or not they are members of the association, are especially invited to attend.

In addition to the regular program, many recreational features are being planned, such as boat trips, automobile rides and picnics. The convention formally opens Wednesday night with a reception at the Battle House in honor of the visiting delegates. The regular sessions will be held at the Y. M. C. A. On Thursday the meeting will be confined to business and election of officers, while in the afternoon the delegates will enjoy a ride on the Hukey by courtesy of Harry T. Hartwell. On Friday morning there will be lectures and discussion of an informal nature. Among the problems taken up will be employment and vocational education for the deaf. On Friday evening a truck ride and picnic has been planned for the guests.

Darcy Wilson is the chairman of the program committee, assisted by Lyman Gould, Jeffie Fleming, Mrs. P. P. Denlon, Miss Florence Boyles, and Miss Gladys Duff, all of Mobile. The woman delegates will stop at the new Y. W. C. A. home, while the men will go to hotels. All plans for the reception of the delegates have been completed, according to Mr. Wilson, who has just returned from Birmingham where he conferred with the executive board. Among the lecturers will be W. S. Johnson of Talladega, formerly of the faculty at the Alabama Institute for the Deaf, J. M. McFarlane of Talladega, editor of the "Messenger," a paper for the deaf, and Osce Roberts of Birmingham, former professor at the Alabama Institute for the Deaf.

The Alabama Association of the deaf was organized in October 1912, and has its headquarters at Birmingham. Meetings are held biennially, the last one having taken place in Montgomery in 1920. The purpose of the association is to bring the deaf persons in the state into closer contact, to encourage greater co-operation between them and the other citizens, to advocate vocational training and to help find employment for the deaf, to keep up the morale of these persons and to make them 100 per cent efficient American citizens.

The present officers of the association are: D. M. Huffman, president; Mrs. Clarence Scarsbrooks, vice-president; H. Harper, secretary pro-tem; and J. F. Brocatom treasurer. The following circular letter has been sent to all members of the association.

"After considerable delay, due to one of our officers moving from this state to another and an uncertain state of affairs as a result, the board of directors is pleased to be able to make this announcement. The Alabama Association of the Deaf will hold its fifth biennial convention in Mobile from Thursday, July 6, to Sunday, July 9, 1922. Everyone is urged to be in Mobile Wednesday night July 5, so the convention can be opened with a full attendance Thursday morning. Be sure to be on time. This date has been decided upon as the most convenient to the deaf farmers as it is presumed that this is usually the time when the deaf farmers, can best leave their work with the least inconvenience or loss of time and yet obtain a large measure of enjoyment in renewing their old and happy acquaintances, attending religious services and transacting business in their interests. A most hearty welcome is extended to all the deaf in Alabama, whether they ever attended our school or not. All who have moved to Alabama and now make it their home may take full part in all the business of the association as well as those who have always lived here. Deaf visitors from outside the state are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the social activities. The entertainment and program committee is a hustling bunch and promises to be one of the best committees we ever had. It is composed of D'Arcy Wilson, chairman, Lyman Gould, Jeffie Fleming, Misses Duff and Boyles. An interesting program is being prepared."—Mobile Register.

FANWOOD.

The Fanwood Alumni Association held its annual meeting in the Girls' study in the Institution.

President Fox opened the meeting, then Secretary Rose read several letters from members who could not attend, owing to distance.

This was followed by reading the minutes of the previous meeting.

Miss Myra L. Barrager, as Treasurer, then gave her report, which showed the treasury in a healthy condition.

The election of officers then followed, and resulted in the following being elected: William H. Rose, President; Miss Alice E. Judge, Vice-President; William G. Jones, Secretary; Miss Myra L. Barrager, Treasurer; Dr. F. T. Fox, Mr. A. McL. Baxter and Mrs. W. H. Rose, Directors.

Mr. Albert A. Barnes, the oldest graduate present, eighty-three years old, was induced to make a few remarks, and he responded by relating some reminiscences of the time when he was a pupil at the 50th Street location of the school, the removal to Fanwood, and how Dr. Harvey Prindle Peet came to establish tutors at Fanwood.

Mr. William H. Van Tassel, the Assistant Principal of the Administrative Department, was also asked to address the Association, and in a few clear signs said that Principal Gardner was unavoidably absent, so he had come to see that all were made to feel at home, and extended greeting and warm welcome to the members from Principal Gardner.

Refreshments consisting of ice-cream and cake were then distributed to all.

There was some dancing, but most of those present preferred to renew acquaintance and one and all had a very enjoyable evening.

At 10:30 P.M. all left for home.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the Palette and Brush Club extended a great surprise to the Adrastian Society girls. In the presence of our Principal, Mr. I. B. Gardner, the club boys presented them with four lovely pictures, the fruits of their labor. It was a great pleasure to the girls.

After the gifts were presented, the girls gave a party in honor of the decorative work they had done.

The past few months the Special Design groups of girls, Doris Patterson, Jessie Garriek, Edna Adams and Thursia LaMour, have been working very hard upon the decorative work of their room, the Adrastian Society room. The work was also assisted by the rest of the Adrastians. But the most credit is due to these four clever workers mentioned above.

They dyed the different draperies, such as curtains, bed spreads, pillowcases, etc., and painted the different pieces of furniture in buff and blue, the school colors, and did beautiful block and stencil work, very pleasing to the eye.

The party was a delightful one, and several guests attended it as follows: Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Gardner, Miss L. F. Carroll, Miss Alice M. Teegarden, Miss Agnes Craig, Miss Mary Moore.

The girls had made delicious cakes, punch and dainty candies, which delighted all those present. After the party, time was taken up in dancing and conversation.

Before the party Miss Alice M. Teegarden presented the Adrastians with blue bachelor's-buttons and yellow marguerites. This beautiful combination makes up the school colors of blue and buff.

The girls being grateful to their beloved teacher, Miss L. F. Carroll, presented her with a beautiful bunch of flowers and five dollars in gold. It was indeed a great surprise to her, but she was never so much pleased. The party dispersed after all had a pleasant evening.

The Adrastian Society room was crowded with interested visitors on Sunday, June 18th. The Palette and Brush Club and the Protean Society were invited to see the splendor of their room.

TO MEET IN DENVER
IN 1927

Read what Grand Secretary Gibson said in The Frat of May, 1918, on his visit to Denver, after an auto trip around the Look-out Mountain:—
"The scenery? Well, the delighted and enthralled visitor said what he thought of it, but to write it is a task beyond him—all the adjectives in his lexicon would be needed and the tale would be long. He can only say here that he hopes every one of his brothers will some day have the opportunity to see it for themselves."
So, remember Denver, 1927.
